How You Can Help

Suggest a Resource

The NRD works continually to respond to the changing needs of our country's wounded warriors, Service Members, Veterans, their families and caregivers by ensuring they have access to the services and support they need.

Site users can recommend resources that might be of benefit to the military community by utilizing the Suggest a Resource feature.

Resources are reviewed by a team of subject matter experts to ensure that all submissions are in accordance with the NRD Participation Policy and that the resources listed add value for the users visiting the site.

About the National Resource Directory

The U.S. Departments of Defense, Labor and Veterans Affairs created the National Resource Directory (NRD) to connect wounded warriors, Service Members and Veterans to resources and assistance available at the local, state and national levels to support them during recovery, rehabilitation and community reintegration.

State Widget

Share NRD resources on your own blog, website or Facebook page using the NRD State Widget.

The NRD State Widget allows users to display resources tailored by state and subject area.

Best of all, the NRD State Widget is maintenance free. Updates will be made automatically when they become available.

Topics and Tools

The National Resource Directory (NRD) is a central source for information on:

- Benefits & Compensation
- Education & Training
- Employment
- Family & Caregiver Support
- Health
- Homeless Assistance
- Housing
- Transportation & Travel
- Volunteer Opportunities

The NRD also has a variety of features and tools to help wounded warriors, Service Members, Veterans, their families and caregivers access the information and resources they need where they live and work.

Mobile Version

Access resources on the go with the NRD mobile version, and search the NRD's database of more than 13,000 resources from the palm of your hand.

The NRD mobile version allows users to access NRD resources through any mobile device such as the iPhone, Blackberry, Android and others.

This is yet another way the NRD has made finding resources to help the military community easier. Simply enter NRD.gov in the browser of your mobile device, and begin searching for resources!
